What makes San Bruno truly the “City with a Heart”? Is it the physical product of past development and city planning?

I believe it is something greater. I believe it is the People who call San Bruno home, and their direct participation in the political affairs of their government the vital force which sustains our democracy.

As your city council member, I will use my experiences as a lifelong resident of San Bruno to enact sensible policies that reflect who we are and who we should aspire to be. I will be a strong advocate for affordable housing and the right to a quality education for every family. Furthermore, it is imperative that we elect leaders equipped with a scientific literacy sufficient to address the dire circumstances currently facing our city and nation.

A vote for me this Tuesday, November 3rd, will help ensure a future for every young person in their much-beloved community. You can read more about who I am and what I stand for at jeremysarnecky.com.
